Union Charges Company With Wage 'Sit-Down' Against Government

(By Associated Press)

One of the nation's major post-war labor disputes appeared headed for a showdown today as the country's biggest union and largest automotive corporation, on the eve of a strike vote involving more than 300,000 workers, sparred on the wage-hour issue.

The fight between the CIO's United Automobile Workers' union and General Motors Corp. in Detroit highlighted the nation's labor troubles. Today's idle because of labor disputes numbered around 230,000, more than 200,000 under the figure of early in October. Return of more than 200,000 soft coal miners to work after a month's walkout was largely responsible for the reduction. However, the labor picture in Detroit was dark.

Fine Charge at Company

The CIO UAW, after rejecting a General Motors Corp. official's proposal for a 45-hour work week, charged the company with giving notice of a "sit-down strike" against the government's wage-raising policy. The union asked that congress be informed of the company's attitude in its wage dispute.

The company, in letters to workers, let it be known it anticipated approval of a strike in tomorrow's vote, which follows the IAW petition in support of its 30 per cent wage increase demand.

General Motors Vice President C. E. Wilson last week suggested a 45-hour work week with a five to eight per cent increase in wages, with overtime after 45 hours.

The company said, in rejecting the union's wage demands, there could be no boost in wages without a corresponding increase in car prices or an adjustment to wage stabilization policy.

Wilson's proposal was termed a "phony bribe" by Union President R. J. Thomas, and he and Vice President Walter P. Reuther declared adoption of a 45-hour week would mean scrapping of the wages and hours act and a "surrender of basic labor standards."

Liverpool, Boy, 3, Dies In Home Fire

EAST LIVERPOOL, Oct. 23.—Albert E. Pollock, three-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Leland Pollock, died today when fire swept the family home here.

Fire Chief Charles Bryan said some draperies apparently caught fire while the child was playing with matches.

Coroner Ernest Sturgis returned a verdict of death by suffocation and shock from burns.

Three Canton Boys Held In Slaying of Merchant

CANTON, Oct. 23.—A 16-year-old Canton youth led police to an abandoned brick yard yesterday where detectives found a 32 caliber pistol which he believed killed William Karam, 54, in a holdup of his confectionery store Oct. 14.

The boy was one of three teenage lads who, police said, admitted participation in the slaying.

City Chest Drive Extended; $9,000 Still Short Of Goal

Nine thousand dollars short of the goal of $45,000 at the end of the first week, Community Chest leaders last night decided to extend the campaign until the National War Fund and Salem fund are filled.

Reports at noon today showed a total of $36,368.84, but Chairman E. M. Stephenson and his staff were determined that every effort would be made to bridge the gap between that figure and the goal within another week.

Another meeting of the leaders will be held next Monday night to receive reports, with the expectation that the campaign will be closed at that time.

Reports at last night's meeting indicated many contributors were not fully awake to the needs of the campaign. Many of the larger pledges were cut sharply, whereas the need today is as great as last year.

This will be the last National War Fund campaign and Community Chest leaders are bending every effort to keep Salem from registering its first failure in any public campaign. Next October the drive will be only for Community Chest requirements.

Much Work To Be Done

Chairman Stephenson and Mrs. Elizabeth Baker, chest secretary, revealed that some territory had not been covered and that in almost every class of givers there were many deflections from last year's figures. Industrial workers in several plants which are still working steadily had reduced their donations or made no pledges, making the task of the Community Chest workers all the harder.

This week will be spent in a clean-up drive, in an effort to make everyone realize his obligation in helping to meet the goal.

R. S. McCulloch, president of the Community Chest association, was in charge of last night's meeting, when 12 members-at-large were elected to the chest council. They are Norman Peterson, George Perault, Carl Willman, Beman Ludwig, Chester Gow, Miss Mary Bowman, Mrs. R. B. Kernohan, J. H. Wilson, Ralph Atkinson, South meyer, James Primm, Emerson Smith.

In three weeks the council, including representatives of the participating agencies, will meet to elect two trustees. The board then will select another or ninth member who will become assistant chairman of the 1946 drive. J. B. Martin is assistant this year and will become chairman next year.

FOUND GUILTY IN FATAL PARTY BRAWL

LISBON, Oct. 23.—Harley Wright of New Waterford, charged with second degree manslaughter in connection with the death of Clyde Pettigrew of Lisbon on May 22, was found guilty by Judge Joel H. Sharp today.

Sentence was deferred. Wright has seven days in which to request a new trial. Defense counsel previously waived trial by jury.

Pettigrew, who died of a fractured skull two days after an injury allegedly suffered at a drunken party in Lisbon, was said to have been in a quarrel with Wright.

Robbery of the Salona Supply Co., W. Pershing st., sometime Sunday night netted thieves, who eventually used a truck to transport their haul, between $600 and $700 in equipment, police reports showed today.

Prying open the large sliding doors at the rear of the Salona mill building, the burglars carted away three adding machines, valued at $450, a large amount of unreplaceable tools, valued at more than $200, a radio worth $20 and $5.50 in cash from a drawer in the mill office.

Locks were cut off the machine shop door and entrance also made into the company's implement storeroom, from where other tools were stolen.

E. E. Bower, manager, estimated the loss for police. Melvin Hoffman, who lives in the house east of the store room, told police two boys knocked at his front door about 7 p. m. Sunday and told him someone was in the storeroom.

He looked around the building, using a flashlight, but saw no one. Later in the evening, about 11, Hoffman said his wife heard a commotion from the direction of the building as they were retiring.

Fingerprint tests were made yesterday by Deputy Sheriff Howard Clark, who was called into the case by Patrolman James Hassey.

Yank Flier Forced To Walk Naked In City, Then Burned

HANKOW, China, Oct. 23.—American intelligence officers today related a story of Japanese torture of three B-29 crewmen who were submitted to such humiliations their names never may be revealed for the sake of their relatives.

One of the fliers, almost naked, was forced to walk through Hankow's wintry streets. One eye was virtually gouged out and he was showered with icy water. At the end of his miles long ordeal, he was showered with gasoline and burned alive, on orders of a Japanese military schoolmaster.

Two fellow B-29 crewmen also were cremated, but whether they were alive when the fires were lighted has not been determined. They were forced to make the same tortuous walk through Hankow. The fire blackened bodies of all three have been recovered.

A fourth flier, who survived the crash of the Chengtu-based B-29, was injured so seriously he was taken to a hospital and thus escaped the fate of his buddies. He is believed to have been liberated.

Chinese Recall Incident
The incident was remembered by scores of Chinese in Hankow because the city received its worst raid of the war only two days after the public torture of the Americans. Many believed the heavy bombing was a reprisal.

Those who saw the death march said the superintendent of a Japanese-sponsored "Model Youth Corps" ordered the tortures because he wanted to make an impression on his charges.

The Japanese turned the Chinese Dah Pu bank building in Hankow into a torture and death factory. An estimated 10,000 Chinese were put through this house of torture and only about 6,000 emerged alive.

Behind the gray stone walls of the bank were the usual shock devices of the Japanese army, including equipment for the water treatment and squeeze machines for sensitive parts of the human body.

One torture instrument was used to hang a man from a beam by his thumbs in such a way that if he eased himself with his bare feet he would cut them to ribbons on broken glass.

The bank furnace was used to cremate those who did not survive.

SENTIMENT IN CONGRESS SPLIT

Solons' Opinions Divided On Universal Service Proposal

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 23.—President Truman's recommendation for a year's military training for young men got a divided reception in congress today.

There was disagreement with his statement that the universal training program he proposed "is not conscription."

House Democratic leaders declined to comment immediately but indicated pessimism over the legislative prospects for the plan.

There was approval, even among the opponents of his proposal, for some aspects of his plan.

Sen. Edwin C. Johnson (D., Colo.), acting chairman of the senate military affairs committee, told reporters he regarded the program as nothing less than conscription, to which he is opposed.

But Johnson was pleased that the President had recommended that trainees should not be subject to military duty until they are picked by Selective Service on the order of congress.

Sen. Hill (D., Ala.): "The President's plan merits the most sympathetic and friendly consideration of the congress. It is what Gen. Marshall urged."

Sen. Austin (R., Va.): "I think this principle is sound. It may be possible to spread the training period over four years instead of one and get even better preparation for national defense."

Rep. Walter G. Andrews of New York, top-ranking Republican on the house military committee: "I am in favor of the program."

Sen. Butler (R., Neb.): "I'm not for taking a youngster entirely out of his normal mode of life. I'm for such military training as he can get in colleges and high schools."

Sen. Hart (R., Conn.): "I'm wholly in agreement."

Sen. Russell (D., Ga.) said he also favored peacetime universal training but thought the age should be 17 to 23 to allow more leeway.

U. S. Steel Corp. Rejects Wage Plea

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 23.—The U. S. Steel Corp. today informed the CIO-United Steel Workers existing ceiling prices "do not enable us to grant a wage increase at this time."

In a message to President Philip Murray, the corporation replied to requests by the steel union for a wage increase, saying:

"Your wage demand is staggering one. In substance, you ask nearly the same weekly pay for 40 hours of work as is now paid for 48 hours of work, including eight hours overtime at time and one half pay. That would amount to an increase of 22.1 per cent in average weekly straight time wages, with a 16 2/3 per cent reduction in productive hours per week and a consequent reduction in the weekly steel output per workers."

MILITARY PREPARATION FOR YOUTH FOR PERIOD OF YEAR ADVOCATED IN CONGRESS TALK

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 23.—President Truman recommended today a universal training program involving a year of military preparation to provide a reserve of manpower to preserve future peace.

The President told a joint session of congress it alone could send trainees under the universal training program into the Army and Navy and that if the time came "these trainees could be inducted only by selective process, as they were inducted for World War I and World War II."

"The great difference between having universal training and having no training however," the President declared, "is that in time of emergency, those who would be selected for actual military service would already have been basically trained."

"That difference may be as much as a year's time. That difference may be the margin between the survival and the destruction of this great nation."

Under his plan, the President asserted, provision should be made within the armed services to help trainees improve their educational status.

"The year of universal training should provide ample opportunity for self improvement," he continued. "Some part of the training could be used to develop skills which would be useful in future civilian life just as such skills have been developed during the present war."

The President recommended creation of a postwar military organization containing the following basic elements:

"First—A comparatively small regular Army, Navy and Marine corps.

"Second—A greatly strengthened National guard and organized reserve for the Army, Navy and Marine corps.

"Third—A general reserve composed of all the male citizens of the United States who have received training."

The general reserve "would be available for rapid mobilization in time of emergency, but it would have no obligation to serve, either in this country or abroad, unless and until called to the service by an act of the congress," the President asserted.

"In order to provide this general reserve, I recommend to the congress the adoption of a plan for universal military training."

The President recommended the training should be for one year and that each young man must enter training "either at the age of 18 or upon his graduation from high school—whichever is later; but in any event before his 20th birthday."

A 17-year-old high school graduate also would be eligible to enter training with his parents' consent.

Under the President's recommendation, the trainee, upon completion of the full year's training, would become a member of the general reserve for a period of six years. After that, he would be placed in a "secondary reserve status."

"I urge that the congress pass this legislation promptly—while the danger is still fresh in our minds—while we still remember how close we came to destruction four years ago—while we can vividly recall the horrors of invasion which our Allies suffered—and while we can still see all the ravages and ruin of war," the President declared.

"Let us not by a short-sighted neglect of our national security betray those who came after us."

"It is our solemn duty in this hour of victory to make sure that in the years to come no possible aggressor or group of aggressors can endanger the national security of the United States of America."

The President said even the atomic bomb would have been useless "unless we had developed a strong Army, Navy and Air Force with which to beat off the attacks of our foe, and then fight our way to points within striking distance of the heart of the enemy."

ern warfare," he asserted. "The training will offer every qualified young man a chance to perfect himself for the service of his country in some military specialty."

The President said universal military training "is not conscription. He defined conscription as "compulsory service in the army or navy in time of peace or war."

"Trainees under this proposed legislation," he said, "would not be enrolled in any of the armed services. They would be civilians in training. They would be no closer to membership in the armed forces than if they had no training. Special rules and regulations would have to be adopted for their organizations, discipline and welfare."

The year of training, he said, "could well be used to raise the physical standards of the nation's manpower, to lower its illiteracy rate, and to develop in our young men the ideals of responsible American citizenship."

Camps Already Established In Country
Medical examinations of the trainees, he said, would "do much toward removing some of the minor disabilities which caused the rejection of many men for military service during the war."

His program would provide "that after a few months' training, youths who are physically unqualified for military service would receive training 'in certain skills so that if war came, they could take their places in shipyards, munitions factories and similar industrial plants.'"

Commissions would be granted to qualified men who complete the course of training and who then take additional instruction in officer candidate schools, in the Reserve Officers' training Corps or Naval Reserve Officers' Training Corps.

Outstanding trainees, Mr. Truman said, could be selected after a period of training and sent to college with government financial aid. They would be required, however, to return after graduation to serve as junior officers for a year or more of additional training or service.

He suggested that if conditions change, the program could be re-examined and revalued. At the present, he said, the nation has the necessary organization, the required camp installations, and the essential

Unfinished Job

Salem has never failed in a Community Chest campaign, or a fund drive for any relief purpose. It has been proud of its contributions in the past. It cannot afford at this time, especially, to lose its pride and satisfaction in helping the less fortunate. And yet the combined National War Fund and Community Chest drive is lagging, with much reason to fear that the goal may not be attained. That outcome is unthinkable in a community like Salem. This is the final National War Fund drive. Next year financial help will be sought only for Community Chest agencies.

Restoration of freedom has brought little if any improvement in physical conditions to many war-stricken countries, such as Europe, China, the Philippines. Lack of sufficient food, clothing and fuel grows more threatening with the approach of winter. This means a job to tax the capacity of all relief organizations.

We in this country know that a hungry kid is a hungry kid, no matter what government he lives under. We may resent the circumstances that keep some member of our family in the service long after victory. But we realize that wholesome recreation and a few extra comforts will make him happier while those circumstances exist.

And because we know these things we should be willing to dig down once more for a few dollars to invest in a little more health and happiness for our own soldiers and sailors, and for the decent, unfortunate people of other lands that bear the fresh and open scars of war.

We must dig down to keep faith with our fellow citizens whose lot in life, despite the more prosperous war times the rest of us have enjoyed, is handicapped. We must do it for humanitarian purposes. We cannot quit before the results of a war victory have been gained. We cannot quit before our own community needs have been met, fully and adequately.

Responsibility For Inflation

Walter P. Reuther, vice president of United Auto Workers, the C.I.O. affiliate leading the organization's campaign for an arbitrary 30 per cent wage increase, has declared in a brief submitted to General Motors Corp. that "the well-being of American workers, businessmen, farmers, white collar and professional groups requires the 30 per cent increase which General Motors is able to pay without increasing prices."

The last clause in this statement is the nub of the issue, the Henry Wallace-C.I.O. thesis that the wage element in the cost of production can be increased arbitrarily without a corresponding increase in the price of the product. General Motors Corp. says it would be an economic impossibility. The president of Chrysler Corp., K. T. Keller, has stated the situation bluntly: "It's up to Washington to decide how much inflation they want." Other spokesmen for the automobile industry, chosen by C.I.O. as the proving ground for its more-wages-same-cost thesis, all insist that it is demonstrably wrong. Mr. Reuther himself told newsmen at the close of last week that "if the automobile companies can't give us 30 per cent without increasing costs, that's one thing—but we think they can."

There is a political as well as economic question raised by this difference of opinion. The federal government, through its authority to force management into certain industrial relations and price patterns, must accept ultimate responsibility for whatever price inflation might be caused directly by arbitrary wage increases. As Mr. Reuther says, the "well-being" of all of us is at stake. But it remains to be seen whether it will be served best if the higher wage-higher price cycle is jet-propelled in the basic automobile industry. What is happening in that industry today in the name of collective bargaining will have its repercussions eventually at the polls.

Party Responsibility

In the near future, if it hasn't dawned on them already, a number of potential Hitlers and their followers on the make in various nations will realize the tremendous implications of political party responsibility as set forth in the indictment of Germany's war criminals.

What the indictment sets forth in effect is that any member of a political party which becomes responsible for conspiracy to break the peace of the world shares responsibility and is subject to indictment, conviction and punishment as a war criminal.

Carried one step further, the indictment proposes that political parties, hitherto regarded as of merely domestic significance, shall be regarded as internationally significant. Probably no highly placed member of Hitler's National Socialist party is directly guilty of the base crimes of violence that grew out of the party program, but all are charged with guilt for the conspiracy that broke the peace. It is contended, in other words, that membership in any organization that violates the peace of the world has become an international offense. The same principle will be applied in due course of time to Japan's militarist conspirators.

The implications of this concept are too vast to be comprehended at first thought. They can be realized vaguely, however, by remembering that Fritz Kuhn, who was the leader of a political minority in the United States, has been deported to Germany and is under arrest there for his part in a war he watched from the United States.

Let's Not Go Too Fast

The United States government, as befits a government of the people, is listening to its citizens these days and heeding their demands. It is demobilizing the men and women of its armed forces as fast as is physically possible, and it promises relief from heavy wartime taxes in the coming year.

All this is natural and necessary and good, up to a certain point. But perhaps the people themselves should stop to inquire whether their obedient servants in Washington may not be returning them to a peacetime mode of living with a speed which might work to the country's eventual detriment.

Everyone is admittedly sick to death of war, with its grief and anxiety, its restrictions and shortages and high taxes. The men still in service are homesick and restive, now that the fighting's over.

So it is not to be wondered that there is a clamor for returning every man overseas to the bosom of his family with all possible speed. It is not to be wondered that the C.I.O. is asking congress for a $6.5 billion cut in individual taxes, or that the National Association of Manufacturers wants an overall tax reduction of $8 billion.

But the American people cannot shut their eyes to the fact that, though the war is won, the goals for which it was fought have not been achieved.

Germany and Japan may be defeated, and many of their conquerors may be exhausted, but peace is by no means secure.

None of the victorious powers has more consistently claimed its devotion to the ideals of peace, freedom, prosperity and self-determination than the United States. Yet the world and we ourselves may wonder how sincere that devotion is if we strip ourselves of military strength, as we seem bent on doing, and rely only on words to gain the ends toward which the world has advanced through such frightful bloodshed.

A standing army capable of defending us against any power or group of powers would, of course, lead to national bankruptcy. An army as woefully inadequate as that of 1940 would cause us to lose diplomatic prestige by proclaiming that we were not ready to fight, if need be, in defense of the ideals which we have so vigorously espoused.

Between these two extremes stands the proposal for universal military training which General Marshall has put forward. The arguments in its favor seem unanswerable if a realistic view of world conditions is taken. For the sake of world peace, national security, strength of diplomatic decisions and the lives of the men who might have to fight another war, such a force of modern minute men seems the only logical solution.

The United States cannot pull out of world affairs. It cannot abandon the humane commitments for which it has fought. And it cannot safely think of total demobilization and disarmament until that utopian day when harmony and understanding shall prevail throughout the earth.

The Stars Say

For Wednesday, October 24.

A SUDDEN turn in events may offer a splendid opening with enhanced fortunes, large plans and ideas, may expand the assets, resources and with desired ambitions, but such must be practically and carefully worked on with serious analyses.

Consultation with friends or superiors is advised, but use such with discrimination and conservatism. Public or community interest may be involved. Advanced goals may be successfully reached for. A brilliant climax may depend on wise plans and decisions.

If It Is Your Birthday

Those whose birthday it is may anticipate a year of progress and expansion, probably arising from a turn of the wheel of fortune. Such opportunity may depend entirely on well-laid plans and practical analysis, in which friends or superiors may be substantially cooperative.

Public welfare seems involved with promotion and the attainment of cherished hopes and wishes. The social and romantic as well as financial resources are enhanced and may bring much happiness with elaborate celebrations.

A child born on this day will have much good luck with sudden changes, making for fulfillment and a brilliant record in life.

GUARDING YOUR HEALTH

A Circulatory Disturbance

BY HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M. D.

A NUMBER of different disorders affect the circulation in the hands, arms and legs. One of these conditions, which affects the hands, especially, is known as Raynaud's disease. This is a disorder in which there is a spasm of the arteries supplying the fingers with blood.

When an attack occurs, the fingers first turn a waxy-white color; then they become blue, and finally red. When the redness develops, it indicates that the attack is over.

Severity Rare

True, severe forms of Raynaud's disease are evidently rare, but the symptoms which occur in this disease also may develop in almost any disorder which affects the blood vessels. However, many mild attacks of Raynaud's disease seem to occur.

If the attacks develop often enough and last long enough, certain changes occur in the walls of the blood vessels and in the tissues, which finally lead to the formation of ulcers or sores due to gangrene or death of tissues.

Many of the milder attacks of Raynaud's disease in young women can be treated by giving large amounts of the vitamins and preparations containing iron and arsenic.

When the condition is more severe, the only treatment which has been found of any particular value is an operation known as sympathectomy. The blood vessels are controlled by the sympathetic nerves. Cutting these nerves will tend to keep the blood vessel spasms from developing.

Attacks Recur

However, even this treatment may not completely relieve the symptoms. Attacks may still occur in which the finger tips turn white and blue, but they last only a short period of time, and the third stage, in which the redness develops, does not occur. During this third stage there is often pain and burning, and these symptoms are prevented by the operation on the sympathetic nerves.

Lady Nearly Choked

While Lying In Bed—
Due To Stomach Gas

One lady said a few days ago that she used to be afraid to go to bed at night. She was swollen with stomach gas, which always got worse when she went to bed, and the gas would rise up in her throat after she lay down and would nearly choke her. She couldn't lie flat. Had to prop herself up on pillows. Recently this lady got ERB-HELP and now says gas is gone, stomach feels fine, bowels are regular and she can go to bed and sleep soundly.

ERB-HELP contains 12 Great Herbs; they cleanse bowels, clear gas from stomach, act on sluggish liver and kidneys. Miserable people soon feel different all over. So don't go on suffering. Get ERB-HELP! Lease Drug Stores.

A social function which attracted wide interest last night was the seventh annual banquet of the office girls of Salem Manufacturing plants in the Memorial building, with 167 in attendance.

The girls are representatives from the offices of the National Sanitary Co., Quaker City Foundry, C. B. Hunt & Son, Inc., G. H. Bowman Co., Gonda Engineering Co., Electric Furnace Co., Salem China Co., Salem Tool Co., Mullins Corp., An-dalusa dairy, Deming Co., Salem Engineering Co., Taylor Printing Co., and the E. W. Bliss Co.

This year the girls in the Bliss Co. office arranged the event with Miss Edith Hiddleston, chairman.

Tables Attractive

The tables were beautifully appointed in keeping with the Halloween season and the favor, small pumpkins, were made by the Bliss Co. girls. They were filled with candy and nuts.

W. W. Alsbaugh sang a group of solos with Miss Elaine McGhee, accompanist.

Billy Knox of Youngstown entertained with a variety of sound motion pictures.

A community sing was featured with Kathryn Behmiller as director and Jean Redman, accompanist.

Prizes offered were awarded Janet Whinnery, Vivian Wiegand, Edith Primm, Mary Derfus, Jeanette Hoch, Ethel Buehler, Alice Stallsmith, Enid Zarbaugh, Mary Cody, Marjorie Ramsey, Margaret Rowedda and Stella Kot.

The Salem Engineering Co. girls will have charge of the 1946 banquet.

Music Study Club Program Enjoyed

The Salem Music Study club held one of its outstanding programs when the members met Monday afternoon at the Columbiana Methodist church with Mrs. F. E. Griffin, hostess.

Mrs. E. E. Dyball opened the program with a paper on "The Development of the Organ," following which the story of the hymn, "God of Our Fathers," was told by Mrs. L. B. Harris.

Mrs. P. H. Beaver gave a talk on "Choral Preludes" and played three organ solos, "If Thou But Suffer God to Guide Thee" (Rink), "A Lovely Rose Is Blooming" (Brahms) and "Rejoice Greatly O My Soul" (Karg-Elert).

Two vocal solos, "Consider the Lilies" (Topsies) and "I Will Extol Thee O Lord," from the oratorio "Eli," arranged by Costa, were offered by Mrs. L. B. Cessna, with Mrs. Beaver playing the organ accompaniment.

Mrs. E. T. Coyle and Mrs. Edgar Miller played two organ and piano duets, "Pastorale" (Gulimant) and "Meditation" (Mietzke). For the second number Mrs. Mackall of Columbiana played a violin obligato.

Refreshments were served by the hostess.

Berets Go Glamorous

By EPSIE KINARD

NEW YORK — That little old creel, taken off heads of Basque fishermen and French cyclists for feminine sportswear, is hitting the glamor trail and bobbing up at the best parties this fall.

Tricked out with headbands of gold lace, cavaliers' plumes or wrapped tenderly in clouds of veiling, berets are now hats and as such are to be reckoned with. Any resemblance to the original skullcap look is purely coincidental, but is not likely to be seen in 1945's fancy crop of berets. They go high and wide as well as handsome to meet the seasons needs for the lofty look, the scale spread or the coquettish profile slant.

Above are headliners typifying new silhouettes and a new high in fancy embellishments. At left is Madame Suzzy's lofty profile beret—French-designed and American reproduced—made of tropical olive felt, which is half-hidden by a lime-colored ostrich plume draper cavalier fashion.

At right is Madame Pauline's high-hat beret of black felt, which sets like a halo on a Medici-inspired headband of gold lace elaborately studded with pearls.

Candidates Initiated By Eastern Stars

Six candidates were initiated at a meeting of Salem chapter, Order of the Eastern Star, last night in the Masonic temple.

Richard White of the Alliance chapter sang a group of solos, accompanied by Mrs. White. Mrs. Glenn Davis entertained with a piano solo.

Mrs. Elizabeth Heacock, 90, of Warsaw, Ind., was among the visitors. Others were from Alliance, Leetonia and Lisbon. Approximately 100 were in attendance. The regular meeting will be held Nov. 5.

Fifty Australian Brides Leave U. S. And Yank Husbands

BRISBANE, Australia, Oct. 23.—More than 50 Australian brides of American service men returned from the United States aboard the Matsonia today, some saying they were simply homesick and others disappointed because the country was "not like the movies and magazine advertisements."

Among the women were some widows and divorcees and others who said they were "just fed up."

"I felt like an outcast," said Mrs. Betty Schultz of Sidney. "The American women resented us and were always saying we pinched (stole) their men."

"America is likeable but the people are dreadful," exclaimed another, Mrs. Margaret MacDonald of Sydney. "Everyone rushes around like lightning and after the quiet life in Australia America is absolute Bedlam."

Mrs. Joan Balboni of Sidney said, "everything in America is fast and everyone is selfish. A decent meal costs more there than a new summer frock here. The pace of living and playing gets on Aussie nerves."

Russo-Turkish Dispute

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

THE ARE the makings of another dangerous upheaval in the Balkans.

Freshly arrived Russian troops, with tanks and artillery, are maneuvering in southern Bulgaria near the Turkish border. Reliable estimates place the Red military force in Bulgaria at 200,000. The Bulgarian army is being reorganized under the tutelage of Russian training staffs, and has the appearance of being an auxiliary to the Soviet force.

Why all this military activity? Well, the answer must be a guess, but we don't have to look far for a likely answer.

As I read the signs, the dispute between Moscow and Turkey over control of the Dardanelles and the territorial concessions which the Turkish wants in Turkish Armenia, seems to be coming to a head. The stakes are vast, and both sides are packing guns—precautionary, probably, but none the less suggestive.

The status of the Dardanelles is of the utmost importance to Russia. This narrow strait (the one leader used to swim nightly to visit his true love) is the gateway leading from the Black sea into the Aegean and the Mediterranean. That is, it's Russia's only exit from the Black sea and without free use of this passage, Moscow cannot make good its apparent ambition to become a Mediterranean power.

The way things now stand, Turkey controls the Dardanelles under the so-called Montreux convention of 1936—signed by Bulgaria, France, Britain, Greece, Japan, Romania, Turkey, Russia and Yugoslavia. This treaty permitted Turkey to militarize the strait. Freedom of passage for other nations was recognized, excepting that Turkey could close the Dardanelles if she was at war or was threatened by war.

The Montreux convention didn't trouble Russia at the time of its signing, but it has become a mighty matter now that she is the dominant power of that part of the world and wants free access to the Mediterranean. Thus it came about that at the last meeting of the big three at Potsdam the Soviet asked for a revision of the Montreux convention. President Truman stood for an international commission to control the strait—and there the matter still rests. The Turks naturally won't cotton to the idea much, and hold that the convention would have to be altered by the same countries which established it.

To add fuel to the fire, another question developed between Moscow and Ankara. The Soviet union claims the Kars, Ardahan and Artvin districts of Turkish Armenia. These are in the northeast corner of Asiatic Turkey, at the southeastern end of the Black sea, and are against the frontiers of the Soviet republics of Georgia and Armenia. The three districts were ceded to Turkey by Russia in 1921, as a good will gesture. They now have a strategic value which makes them valuable to Russia.

The Turkish press has been blunt in declaring that Ankara will refuse to give up these districts. The Turks are tough and probably mean what they say. Whether they could back up what they say, or would try to, is quite another question.

In any event, the indications are that Russia is going to demand an early settlement of both these questions. Bulgaria of course will stand solidly with Russia. The Sofia provisional government—which is still unrecognized by the United States and Britain, who maintain that it doesn't represent the whole country—is heavily Communistic.

Questions and Answers On Problems of the Servicemen

WASHINGTON—Here are some questions from veterans who are interested in becoming farmers.

Q. Although my parents were not farmers I come from a small town and know a lot about farms and the life. Since getting out of the Army I have been giving a lot of thought to getting into the agricultural industry. What are the prospects of it being overworked when all the war workers get back?

A. According to the Bureau of the Census and Agricultural Economics there was a decline of 3,110,000 in the male farm population. According to the best available estimates there are now approximately 1,075,000 possible candidates for full-time farm work. This should leave plenty of opportunity.

Q. Can a veteran who has never lived on a farm or doesn't know anything about it get a loan to buy a farm and start raising crops?

A. No. A veteran has to demonstrate to the lending agency and the Government that he has a reasonable chance to make a success of farming before a loan will be guaranteed.

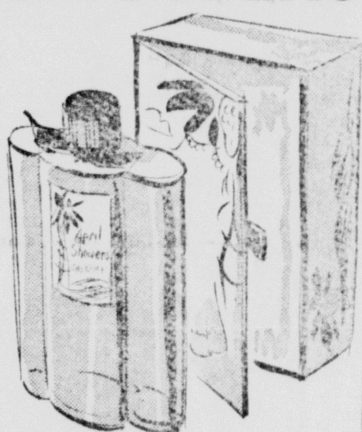

Q. I am interested in becoming a farmer. I lived on a farm before I went into the Marines. I finished high school. I want to go to an agricultural college for at least two years. If I do that on the Government will I still be able to get a loan guaranteed to help finance a farm or will it be too late?

A. You can go to school and also get your loan financed if you meet the general requirements to be eligible for the GI Bill of Rights.

Q. Next to my home, which is on the edge of town, is a tract of land which would be suitable for raising much good food. I have a full-time job already but plan to hire somebody to do the work on the farm and split the profits. But they tell me I can't get the Government to guarantee me a loan to buy the property. I am a veteran, honorably discharged. What is the reason?

A. You have to do the farming yourself to get a loan to buy a farm.

U. S. Ship Is Fired On During Yangtze Patrol

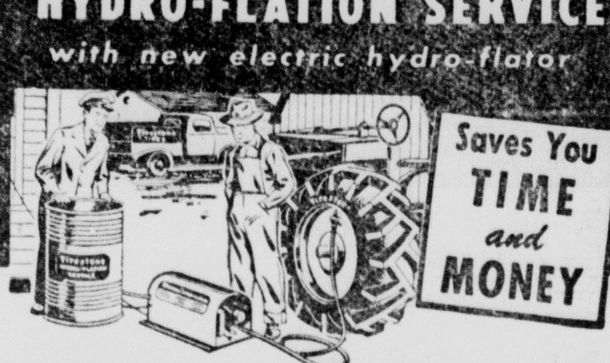

SHANGHAI, Oct. 23.—The American navy repair ship Seize was fired on by a Yangtze river shore battery and small arms today near Chinkiang village, halfway to Nanking.

The Seize returned the fire with machine guns. No Americans were hurt but the Seize sustained minor damage. The episode was disclosed by Rear Adm. C. T. Joy, commander of the newly-reinstated Yangtze patrol.

Joy notified Gen. Tang En-Po, commander of government troops in this area. Tang said that the area was "full of Chinese Communists." He promised to take action to prevent a recurrence of the attack, however.

Salem Quakers To Meet Girard Indians Here On Thursday

LOCALS PICKED TO WIN EASILY IN FRAY HERE

Indians Unimpressive So Far This Year While Salem Improves

Thursday is football night in Salem this week, instead of Friday, and Quakers fans can expect to watch their local team win its fourth victory, if pre-game data is accurate.

The Salemites have been displaying an improved brand of ball since early in the year and Coach Ben Barrett's all-underclassmen backfield is perking up more and more each game.

The Girard Indians—the team due here at 7:45 p. m. Thursday—are not rated too highly this season and are expected to be the definite underdogs.

Whether all of Barrett's variety of backs will be in shape this week or not, is still a question.

Bob Boone, halfback resting with a leg injury, may not be in uniform this week and Walter Ehrhart, who suffered torn ligaments in his right leg, will definitely not be around.

Young Ted Boone, a halfback, Marion Faini a fullback, Jimmie Laughlin, a quarterback, and several other promising underclassmen will also be used this week for backfield assignment.

Barrett plans once again to mix his single wing formation with the ball-holding T-formation, in the same manner which proved so effective against Wellsview and Struthers.

Coach Baumgartner's Indians, incidentally, were beaten 13-9 by Struthers this season, a pre-game consideration that rates Salem well over the Girard lineup.

Further information on the Indians today is lacking but the record this year has not been impressive so far and would not indicate any great strength.

Coach Barrett ran his charges through a light workout yesterday and rain indicated that little work could be done effectively at Rely field today.

Consequently, Barrett will be forced to be content with a light play running practice tomorrow to complete his pre-game preparations for the Girard contest Thursday.

OUT OUR WAY

OUR BOARDING HOUSE

SPORT CHATTER

BY HUGH FULLERTON, JR.

NEW YORK, Oct. 23.—The fellows on the winning side last week-end were pointedly ignored when the football coaches and writers gathered for their weekly session of chewing the rag yesterday.... The boys were too busy commiserating the Giants' Steve Owen, Brown's Rip Engle and Cornell's Ed McKeever.... The conversation went something like this:

Owen: "Where's that Greasy Neale? I always can laugh at him."

Jim Leonard, Pittsburgh Steelers: "We're getting some boys out of service and by November we should have a fair country ball club."

McKeever (interrupting): "We're getting some, too, but our reinforcements came too early or too late. I had planned to use Gil Bouley as fullback on offense and end on defense; he would have made a lot of trouble. I saw Columbia's deceptive attack Saturday and I don't know how I'll teach the boys to follow the ball. I couldn't follow it."

Engle: "I think it would be good strategy not to score on Columbia until the last couple of seconds. Our trouble at Brown is we have only three of the four freedoms we're still lacking the freedom from want."

More Breeze

Owen: "When we were penalized late in the game Sunday for unnecessary roughness, I told the referee it was a compliment."

Walt Kennedy, Notre Dame publicity: "Hughie Devore feels we have a good college ball club but there's no telling what will happen against Army and Navy. But let me tell you about Frank Daniewicz; he's a great team player, a great passer, a good runner does the kicking for us and probably is the best defensive player Notre Dame ever had."

Miller: "Morachemeyer is in a difficult spot playing under center, but he will improve. Our tactics still are the weak spot but they're coming along. By December First I have a hunch we may be able to match Army's line."

Stu Holcomb, Army: "Our boys are coming along, too. Davis and Blanchard are improving Saturday by Saturday; Shorty McWilliams, Bobby Stuart and the others have further to go."

Brig. Gen. Emmet "Roscoe" O'Donnell: "I never saw an Army club like that when I was at West Point. I hope to get up there for just one look before they sell them to Brooklyn."

Just then a reporter came along with a telegram from Wilbert Bach, U. of Miami drummer: "It said: 'If the L. S. U. game is a sample, it's going to take Charley Trippi longer to get 41 points for Georgia than it did to get 'em in the Army.'"

Four Hour Game Features Weekend Of Scholastics' Queer Gridiron Battles

By HAROLD HARRISON

COLUMBUS, Oct. 23.—Something new has been added to Ohio High school football—it's a game that lasted four hours.

The marathon engagement came about as Youngstown Ursuline licked Youngstown South, 13 to 0, for its sixth straight victory. A fan dropped an umbrella on a lead wire. That caused a short circuit and the lights went out.

It took an hour and 57 minutes to repair the damage so the game could be resumed. Those of the 15,000 fans who stuck it out, sat through a rain to await resumption of hostilities.

Except for that weird one, the week-end's gridiron activity ran remarkably according to Hoyle. Five teams were beaten for the first time but three of them took their licks from other outfits having perfect records. They were Cincinnati Elder, trimmed by Cincinnati Purcell, 14 to 6; Wapakoneta, beaten by Van Wert, 21 to 6, and Tiffin Calvert, thumped by Upper Sandusky, 31 to 6.

The others knocked from the unbeaten list were Canton Township and Granville. Granville's 13 to 7 beating by Pataakala broke an 18-game winning streak.

Big Shots Fired
Probably the biggest shots of the weekend were fired by Newark, Toledo Walte, Cincinnati Purcell and Cleveland Cathedral Latin.

Newark went to Louisville to take on a Male High school team that hadn't lost a game and the final count was Newark 20, Male 13. It was the sixth straight triumph this season for the Wildcats and gave them a record of 22 games won as against one lost and one tied in the last three seasons.

Toledo Walte used its regulars for only slightly more than one period as it romped over Toledo Woodward, 21 to 0. There had been some reports that Cleveland Holy Name might pull an upset against Cleveland Cathedral Latin, last year's unofficial state champs, but Latin can report those reports were wholly unfounded. It was a 13 to 0 decision for the champions.

Others Tops
Otherwise, the unbeaten and untied list reads something like this:

Dayton Chaminade, Martins Ferry, Canton Reading, Troy, Platts, Van Wert, Elida, Upper Sandusky, Minerva, Lowellville, Youngstown Ursuline, Tallmadge, Copley, and Crooksville.

Elida hasn't been scored on yet this season.

The fans were left gasping for breath from East Liverpool's 6 to 6 tie with Ashtabula. The two teams battled until the last three minutes without a score. Then Ashtabula pushed over a touchdown only to have the Potters bounce back and drive more than 60 yards in the closing minutes to gain the deadlock.

Massillon and Canton McKinley also caused a new stir of excitement in the Buckeye Grid ranks.

McKinley Roars
Massillon all but blew Mansfield out of the park in a 40 to 6 triumph. Mansfield had been beaten only once previously this season.

Widdoes Not Being Hard On Buckeyes

COLUMBUS, Oct. 23.—Coach Carroll Widdoes has indicated he will not have the Ohio State team go through strenuous scrimmages in preparation for the Minnesota game at Minneapolis Saturday.

Widdoes, who added there would be no major lineup changes despite the 35-13 setback by Purdue last Saturday, had the squad on the field for only seven minutes yesterday. Then they went in for a 45-minute skull session where pictures of the game were shown.

Stand By Passes
Ohio, which was sunk by the accurate passing arm of Purdue's Bob Demoss, must have three accurate passers, says Scout Ernie Godfrey, assistant coach. He said the halfbacks and full back all share the passing duties.

Buckeyes' travel schedule eliminates the usual Thursday session. Paul Sarringhaus reportedly is in top shape again after injuring his shoulder. Dick Fisher, however, reinjured his leg and may be on the sidelines.

Spiritualists Plan To Hold Public Seance

(By Associated Press)
COLUMBUS, Oct. 23.—Two top-ranking mediums will attempt to convey greetings from the spirit world to a public gathering of more than 200 persons tomorrow.

The seance will be one of the principal events of the 53rd annual convention of the National Spiritualists association.

The two mediums, considered among the best of the association's clairvoyant talent, are Mrs. Florence Becker of San Francisco, Calif., and Mrs. Martha Haupt of Independence, Ky.

What sort of greetings and from whom they will come when the two mediums "tune in" their celestial radio sets is not certain, the mediums explained.

Mrs. Becker, "pastor" of a Spiritualist church called the Golden Gate in San Francisco has been described as a "10-tube medium" by Ralph Pressing of New York, editor and publisher of the "Psychic Observer," a bi-monthly spiritualist newspaper.

Pressing says he describes minor mediums as "just two-tube sets."

The 220 delegates convened here for the six-day convention represent an association membership of 40,000 with adherents in 34 countries, according to Smith and Dr. Victoria Barnes of Chicago, an association trustee.

Truman Proposal At A Glance

(By Associated Press)
President Truman's recommendations at a glance:

1. A year's specialized military training for young men in the 17-29 age bracket.
2. No exemptions from training except total physical disability.
3. Maintenance of a small professional Army, Navy and Marine corps, supplemented by a large organized citizen reserve and strengthened National guard.
4. Immediate passage of the training legislation to use existing camps and organization.
5. A policy of remaining strong in the only kind of strength an aggressor can understand—military power now that "our geographical security is gone."

Do YOU Own A "Scratching" Dog?
If you own and are fond of a dog that is continually scratching, digging, rubbing, and sitting himself until his skin is raw and sore, don't just feel sorry for him. The dog can't help himself. But you may. He may be clean and flea free and just suffering from an intense itching irritation that has centered in the nerve endings of his skin. Do as thousands of pleased dog owners are doing. At any good drug store, pet or sport shop, get a 2c package of Rex Hunters Dog Powders, and give them once a week. Note the quick improvement. One owner writes: "My female setter on Sept. 29th did not have a handful of hair on her body—all scratched and bitten off. I gave her the powders as directed. By Nov. 10th she was all haired out. I learn what they will do for your dog. Make a 2c test. Economy size box for only $1.00. Important: When your dog keeps scratching, shaking head, look for 'Ear Caner' and ask your dealer for Rex Hunters Ear Mange Lotion. It's splendid."

OBITUARY

UTTERBACK FUNERAL
Funeral service will be held at 2 p. m. Saturday at the Stark Memorial for William Harvey Utterback, 59, who died suddenly of a heart attack Sunday morning at Tucson, Ariz.

Dr. R. D. Walter will be in charge and burial will be in Grandview cemetery.

Born Feb. 22, 1885, at Philippi, W. Va., a son of Mr. and Mrs. George Utterback, he lived in Salem for many years. He was employed by the Electric Furnace Co. and went to Tucson early in September, following an accident received while at work.

He is survived by his wife, Irene Mae; two daughters, Mrs. Margaret Ferrier and Mrs. Elaine Steele of Salem; two sons, Robert and Lee, at Tucson; one brother, C. D. Utterback of Jefferson, and five sisters.

Friends may call Friday evening at the funeral home.

Born Oct. 28, 1882, in Butler township, he had lived in this vicinity for 28 years. He was a member of the Westville Christian church, Mile Branch grange and Modern Woodmen.

Surviving are four sons, Russell of Sebring, Norman of Beloit, and Virgil and Raymond at home; one daughter, Evelyn, at home; two halfbrothers, Elmer McLaughlin and W. W. McLaughlin of Beloit, and seven grandchildren. His wife, Ida, died in 1935.

Funeral service will be held at 2 p. m. Thursday at the Westville Christian church, in charge of Rev. Rue Burnell. Burial will be in the North Georgetown cemetery.

Friends may call this evening at the home, R. D. 2, Beloit.

MRS. THOMAS KINSEY
ALLIANCE, Oct. 23.—Funeral service was held today at the Alliance City cemetery for Mrs. Emma E. Kinsey, 60, wife of Thomas J. Kinsey, postmistress of nearby Augusta, who died of a heart attack.

She had been postmistress 24 years. She was born in Cleveland but went to Augusta 43 years ago. Six daughters and four sons also survive.

Estimate Vast Materials In Rebuilding of France
NEW YORK — More than 120 square miles of lumber and glass—enough to cover Paris three times over—will be needed to rebuild the million and a half ruined buildings of France, according to estimates of the French Press and Information Service here.

More than 12 million tons of steel, cast iron, cement and lumber will be needed, the agency said—10 times the 1939 daily capacity of French railroads. The estimated need for 90 million tons of crushed stone, gravel and sand is 30 times the tonnage of the prewar French merchant fleet.

Biggest problem, the agency said, will be coal—to manufacture and ship the urgently needed building materials.

'ONE-SHIP FLEET' ARRIVES IN NEW YORK HARBOR

AGAINST A BACKDROP OF MANHATTAN SKYLINE, the light cruiser U.S.S. Boise slips into New York harbor to take her place among the growing armada of vessels gathering for the mighty Presidential review on Navy Day, October 27. The fighting ship earned her proud sobriquet of "one-ship task force" in her first major battle—off Cape Esperance on Oct. 11 and 12, 1942—where she sank four destroyers and two cruisers. Aboard the vessel were 440 Army personnel, the first such to be returned to New York by warship. (International)
